

{ top ten }

wedding cake

"Here are 10 tasty tips to devour while deciding on what type of dessert to serve at your wedding reception!" -Jen | Something Turquoise

1 Whether you choose a traditional wedding cake or a shabby chic dessert table; make sure that it not only reflects the style of your wedding but also your taste in sweets!

2 DO TASTE THE CAKE! ..or other dessert and serve what you like!

3 Unique cake toppers are always more fun! Etsy offers endless listings of handmade, personal cake toppers!

Better Off Wed via Etsy

4 Pinterest is a great resource for all things wedding. There you can find and save lots of beautiful cake designs to inspire your bakery!

5 You picked out special cake cutting utensils right? Why not purchase {or make!} a special 'cake plate' for your cake cutting as well!

6 Although 'grooms cakes' are a southern tradition, they are starting to pop up all over. Most wedding cakes are frilly and white and nothing that the groom would ever choose for himself. This cake is a fun way to add a masculine touch to dessert time; also a great way to surprise your man!

7 Can't decide on one flavor of wedding cake? How about two flavors, his & hers? This means that you will both enjoy your flavor of dessert and chances are your guest will like the variety.

8 Having mixed thoughts about actually saving the top of your cake to eat on your anniversary? Many bakeries will gladly recreate the top portion of your wedding cake so that you can celebrate with a dessert that is fresh & tasty!

9 If you still want to partake in the 'cutting of the cake' - but don't want to serve the traditional wedding cake to your guests, try this instead: Have a mini-cake created just for the two of you to ceremonially cut and feed each other, then serve your non-traditional dessert!

10 NO smashing of the cake in each others faces! There is nothing worse than a bride wiping cake off her face, along with her beautiful makeup . A sweet dab of frosting on the nose or cheek is adorably appropriate.

Something Turquoise's Monthly Top 10 is written, curated, and designed by Jen Carreiro. Created exclusively for her daily bridal inspiration blog www.SomethingTurquoise.com.